

PRESENTATION

Ventura Industries attempts, with this manual's edition, to start an important renovation in the emission and distribution of technical documentation.

Our objective is to have an instrument of information that can be used to solve the inevitable doubts that show up daily in the installation world of electrical equipment for lighting.

The documentation presented here is the beginning of what is desired to constitute a complete compilation of subjects that, undoubtedly, can be expanded and improved.

For this reason, we appreciate all the questions and suggestions we receive everyday from installers, store owners, personnel of VENTURA INDUSTRIES L.S. and people interested in this important technological branch.

We hope to keep counting with your ideas in order to improve the quality of such an important service, for a company completely involved with its current and future customers, as information.
